COMMISSIONERS INSPECT JAIL

Satisfied that Extra Guards are not Necessary for Four Noted Criminals.

ALL SECURELY LOCKED

Cannot Communicate Except by Shouting. Efforts Taken to Prevent Outside Aid from Reaching them.

Escape from the Adams County jail by Collins, Reinecker, Miller or Moore, the former two convicted of the murder of George Bushman and the latter pair charged with the shooting of Abner Mills, is impossible except with outside aid. The County Commissioners were convinced of this by a recent examination of the prison.

After their regular weekly meeting in the court house the commissioners decided the most important business on hand was an inspection of the jail, because this is the first time in the history of the county that two murderers, and two men who may later be charged with murder, should all be behind the bars at the same time.

Immediately after Miller and Moore were incarcerated for the alleged shooting of Mills there were numerous persons who thought that the county jail would not be strong enough to resist four men's combined efforts to escape, and that it would be necessary to add extra guards.

The commissioners inspected the cell doors of the four men and saw that Collins was secured with four locks. Miller with three, and Reinecker and Moore each with two. There is no way for the men to communicate except by shouting to each other through holes in their doors. These conditions satisfied the commissioners that every precaution has been taken to prevent the escape of any of the four men and that additional guards were unnecessary.

Liberty of the corridor is not granted to the men and no visitors are allowed to see them. When Collins and Reinecker where first lodged in the jail they were allowed to see close relatives. Since Sunday, however, this practice has been discontinued for every means is being taken to prevent the prisoners receiving help from the outside which would result in their escape. Gifts brought by relatives must be handed to the men by the sheriff or a jail attendant.

PUBLIC SPEAKING COURSE

Rev. P. R. Pontius in Charge. Will be Appreciated by Students.

Announcement has just been made by the English Department at College that a course in Public Speaking would be organized for the third term which begins in a few weeks. Rev. Paul R. Pontius will have charge of the work.

"The Gettysburgian" has been strongly urging a course of this kind so that more effective work can be done in debating and oratorical contests.

COSTS MORE NOW TO HIT THE BOOZE

Another Hardship for the Hard Drinking man to Carry on his Shoulders.

CIGARETTES ARE HIGHER

Local Dealers all Raise Price of Beer, or Decrease Size of Glass. Whiskey a Quarter.

Liquor prices went up all over the county, Wednesday, when the new internal revenue tax went into effect. Cigarettes and "soft" drinks were also affected by the tax.

In order to meet the tax, retail liquor dealers are forced to raise the price on consumers which makes whiskey drinking an expensive habit. "Bar whiskey" now sells for a quarter and bonded whiskey for thirty cents. Five years ago the price of a glass of whiskey over the bar was ten cents.

Glasses of beer have steadily decreased in size with every additional tax until many dealers believe it impracticable to change the size of the glasses again. Beer drinkers are said to be used to drinking from large glasses and most retail dealers have raised the old price of five cents, which has been standing for generations, to ten. Other dealers, however, will again reduce the size of the glasses, or possibly endeavor to make up the tax by using additional foam in hopes that the thirsty consumer will snatch up the glass and consume the beverage before he discovers the absence of the usual amount of "brew."

The new internal revenue tax adds $5.20 a galion to the present whiskey tax, making a total of $6.40 and levies $3.00 a barrel on beer. Wine and gin are also heavily taxed in proportion to their quality.

All retail dealers must take inventory of their present stock and label it in order to make statements to the revenue collectors and be taxed for what they have on hand.

Cigarettes are taxed one dollar a thousand which also includes all stocks on hand. Popular brands which formerly sold for five cents have risen to seven and eight, twenty cent brands to twenty two, and higher price cigarettes now sell for thirty five cents a box. Package tobaccos also jumped a few cents in price.

"Soft" drinks and ice cream are taxed ten per cent, including a tax of one cent on every nickel glass of soda sold at the fountains. Local "soft" drink dealers expressed their intentions of meeting the new tax by adding a cent to the price of five and ten cent drinks, after May first, and charging two additional cents for fifteen and twenty cent sales.

There will be a spelling bee held on Friday evening at Pitzer's school, of which Miss Frances Wible is teacher.

YOUNG WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

Mrs. Rogers, of Former County Family, Meets a Tragic End.

Mrs. Lloyd Rogers, of Bellefonte, was burned to death at her home when flames from an exploded can containing a volatile solution caught her dress and enveloped her completely.

Mrs. Rogers was the daughter of Mrs. William Mouers, whose maiden name was Miss Ida Strickhouser and who formerly resided in Adams county, and the niece of Harold Strickhouser, Mrs. Charles Frazier and Mrs. John Schnur, all of Gettysburg. Mrs. Rogers frequently visited her relatives here.

At the time of the tragedy Mrs. Rogers was in a room with her husband and two-year old daughter. A can containing a solution for the child exploded and Mr. Rogers turned his head in time to see his wife lying on the floor in a mass of flames.

He immediately picked her up and ran to the bathroom for water but not in sufficient time to save his wife's life. Mr. Rogers was also burned to such an extent that it may be necessary to amputate one of his hands.

LUTHERANS MEET IN NEW YORK

Dr. Clutz Attending Session. Gettysburg College Man is President at Gathering.

EFFICIENCY CONFERENCE

Forty Five District Synods Presidents Representing Forty States Attend. Many Subjects Considered.

Dr. J. A. Clutz, Seminary Ridge, is attending a meeting in the Holy Trinity Church, New York, of the United Lutheran Church in America, which is said to be one of the most progressive and significant meetings ever held by the Lutherans in this country.

The meeting was called by Dr. F. H. Knubel, who was graduated in 1893, President of the United Lutheran Church in America. This organization is the new body which resulted from the merging of three large bodies at the meeting in New York last November, when the General Synod, the General Council and the United Synod in the South became one. Dr. Knubel was elected at that time as the first president. The meeting in session now is an "efficiency" conference. Those in attendance are the presidents of the forty five district synods of which the general body is composed, and representatives of all general boards and committees. The attendance is large. President Knubel had word in advance that forty three of the forty five district synod presidents would be present. The subjects under consideration include home and foreign missions, charity, education, publication work and every other activity of the church.

These forty five district synods have churches in all but eight of the states in the union. They have three thousand five hundred and sixty churches, and a communicant membership of 775,844, about one-third of all Lutherans in America. An immense statistical chart is displayed before the conference showing the field as occupied now by the Lutherans, and giving information for the basis of the progressive policy which the conference proposes to adopt.

This conference demonstrates the democratic character of the Lutheran Church.

WITH 7TH MACHINE GUN BATTALION

Willis Sterner Escaped Unscathed when Nine Comrades were Shot.

Willis F. Sterner, who is with a Machine Gun Battalion in France, writes the following to his mother, Mrs. Emory Sterner, of Route 6 Gettysburg:

"This being Sunday morning I will write you a few lines as it is not quite church time. This is sure a beautiful morning just like spring. It is so warm for this time of the year, and this is the first day the sun has shone for quite a while. In this country the sun can go down clear one day and the next day it is raining.

"I am sending you a clipping of our soldiers' paper. I just want to show you that we (7th Machine Gun Battalion) did a little to help win this war. I happened to be with the twelve men whom Lieutenant Bissel had over the river, and was also one of the three who got back without getting killed or wounded. I certainly do count myself lucky. Lieutenant Bissel was the finest man we ever had and any of us would go with him.

"You should see me working. We are piling up lumber or something of the kind every day now. That is what I call work.

"I think we will leave here very soon now, but still no one knows just when. I am glad I came over here and was able to do my bit."

Mr. Sterner inquired about a number of his friends.

MAY INCREASE PENSION FUND

Bill Before House Next Week to Permit Commissioners to Increase Contributions.

OUR TRUSTEES FAVOR IT

Epidemic has Increased Demands for Medical and Financial Assistance Given by County Board.

Next week a bill will be introduced in the Pennsylvania Legislature allowing the county commissioners of Adams and other counties to increase their contribution locally to the appropriation made by the State to the Mothers' Pension Fund. The measure will be presented by Representative Hugh A. Dawson, Lackawanna county, to meet the increased need caused by the epidemic of influenza last year. In many counties the fund has not been adequate to meet the needs of the pension boards appointed to administer the funds.

As the law now reads, the State appropriates yearly $200.000 to the Mothers' Pension Fund, to be distributed among the various counties according to population, providing the county commissioners contribute a similar sum. This new bill will not increase the State appropriation but will allow the commissioners to increase their contribution.

Adams county at present is receiving about $1,100 yearly from the State for the Pension Fund and a similar amount from the county commissioners, making about $2,200 that seven trustees of the Fund in this county have at their disposal.

On account of the influenza epidemic and the war, a great number of heads of families have been taken away. During the epidemic alone forty fathers with families of more than two children died in Adams county leaving a total of about one hundred dependent children. It was to meet such situations as these that the first bill was framed. The Pension Board, however, has discovered that the appropriation is not nearly sufficient to meet the urgent demands upon it.

In the last few months the Board has assisted eleven mothers to keep their families together and given medical attention to many children who would not have otherwise gotten it. In two of the families which the Board is advising are ten children each, in another there are eight. One of the best features of the work is the personal supervision given each case by the trustees. The work of the various County Boards throughout the state has revealed the immense field that is open to the State and County to assist and supervise the health and training of the coming Americans who would not be properly cared for otherwise.

The organization in this county was formed four years ago when the following trustees were appointed by the Governor: Mrs. Arch McClean, president; Mrs. Donald P. McPherson, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. William D. Himes, New Oxford; Mrs. W. S. Adams, Gardners Station; Mrs. William Rebert, Cashtown, and Mrs. E. D. Buckey, Littlestown. These women have carried on the work throughout the county earnestly as their monthly reports testify and the service is entirely voluntary upon their part. They are hoping that the bill before the house at present will result in additional funds to meet the increasing demands on board.

The original Mothers' Pension bill was passed six years ago. Adams county was the eleventh county to adopt the plan. To-day there are thirty six counties successfully operating a Mothers' Pension Fund.

ROAD MEN MEET IN COURT HOUSE

Township Supervisors Gather for their Annual Exchange of Ideas.

HEAR INSTRUCTIVE TALKS

State Engineers are on Hand to Explain New Road Building Plans. Good Attendance.

Tentative plans of the State Highway Commission concerning Adams County were presented to a meeting of the Board of Township Road Supervisors, in the court house this morning, by John C. Hiteshew, Assistant District Engineer.

The plans are (1) Route 123, Getzsburg to Harrisburg, to be constructed on both ends during 1919, leaving an open stretch from Heidlersburg to the Adams-York county line for 1920. (2) Route 41, open stretch between Bendersville and Biglerville, as well as that part between Biglerville and the end of the present stone road near Gettysburg to be constructed in 1919.

Thirdly, Route 298, on the Emmitsburg road, from the end of the dirt section under the present supervision of the Battlefield Commission, to the Maryland state line on the Emmitsburg road, to be constructed during 1920 and 1921. Route 42, Baltimore Pike, Littlestown Road, parts not improved by maintainance resurfacing during 1918, to be completed in the next two years.

Route 231, stone road between McSherrystown and Bonneauville, to receive substantial repairs and oils during 1919. General repairs on all other roads.

President Dennis Asper called the meeting to order at 10:50 and after the reading of minutes by Secretary P. A. T. Bower the following men answered to the roll call by townships:

Butler, George W. Wagner, John G. Taylor, Samuel E. Allison; Conewago, Henry Myers; Cumberland, J. H. Wenschoff, John V. Eiker, Frank Bishop; Franklin, Andrew J. Lochbaum; Freedom, Frank Shindledecker; Hamilton, S. S. Mummert; Highland, Harry Weikert; Huntington, George W. Himes; Liberty, Oscar M. Stine, George W. Shryock; Menallen, Dennis C. Asper; Mount Joy, M. E. Snyder; Mount Pleasant, S. J. Hawn, Charles Bucher; Oxford, Jacob Menges; Straban, John Wolford; Tyrone, Edward Martin, George B. Routzahn, Blair Cashman.

After the plans of the State Highway Commission were announced by Assistant Engineer Hiteshew, President Asper introduced B. F. Langlotz, District Engineer of the Bureau of Township Highways, who gave valuable information to the supervisors on questions pertaining to construction, maintenance and repair of township roads and bridges.

The meeting for the afternoon session began at 1:35 at which time Judge McPherson spoke on the subject "The Road System of Pennsylvania".

WILSON AND TAFT FOR N. Y. MEETING

President and Ex-President to Address League of Nations Meeting.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 27—President Wilson to-day accepted an invitation to speak in New York next Tuesday night on the eve of his sailing again for France.

Former President Taft is expected to make a speech at the same meeting which will be held under the auspices of a non-partisan committee of representatives of various societies advocating formation of a League of Nations.

President Wilson is said to be very anxious to have Mr. Taft on the program with him.

PALMER IS NAMED FOR CABINET

President Nominates Prominent Pennsylvania Democrat to Serve in his Cabinet.

SUCCEEDS F. W. GREGORY

A. Mitchell Palmer will be a Popular Choice with Keystone State Men. Takes Office on March 4th.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 27—A. Mitchell Palmer, Alien Property Custodian, today was nominated by President Wilson to be Attorney-General.

Mr. Palmer probably will take office March fourth. His resignation as Alien Property Custodian has not been announced and there is no information as to who will succeed him in that office. Mr. Palmer is a native of Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, and is forty seven years old. He was graduated at Swarthmore College in 1891 and two years later was admitted to the bar.

In 1908 he was elected to Congress and served three terms from the twenty sixth Pennsylvania District. It was generally reported that he was offered the War Portfolio in President Wilson's first cabinet but asked to be excused because he was a Quaker.

When United States entered the war Mr. Palmer became chairman of the 5th District Board of Pennsylvania under the selective service act, continuing his direction of the board until October of the same year. He was then named by President Wilson as Alien Property Custodian.

Mr. Palmer married Miss Roberta Parlett Dixon, of Easton, Maryland, and they have one child, a daughter ten years old.

PRESIDENT HEADS PARADE

Makes First Public Appearance in Washington this Afternoon.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 27—President Wilson made his first public appearance here to-day at the head of the big parade in honor of returned soldiers and sailors, and was enthusiastically greeted as he passed down Pennsylvania avenue by the large crowd gathered to welcome him and Mrs. Wilson.

The president marched behind the Marine Band, carrying an American flag, and was escorted by a committee of citizens.

The parade started promptly at one o'clock and in thirty five minutes had gone a mile and a half to the reviewing stand where Mr. Wilson was addressing the assemblage. As the procession passed a stand containing about four hundred wounded sailors and soldiers a large army dirigible balloon flew low over the heads of the crowd, startling the people.

STOCK REPORT

Except Steel, Entire Market was Slightly Bullish in the Morning.

New York, Feb. 27—Price tendencies again reigned distinctly upward at the active opening of to-day's stock market. Various specialties excepting oil recorded gains of one to two and one half points in the first half hour.

Steel and equipment fell fractionally under yesterday's final prices during moderate reaction of the first hour, but the losses were more than regained later when oil rallied from the early set back. U. S. steel, in which buying was specially extensive, repeated its maximum quotation of the current movement. Affiliated industrial lines advanced substantially.

CONGRESS HAS A HOPELESS TASK

In its Endeavor to Rush Appropriations' Bill Say Republican Members.

TO SHIFT RESPONSIBILITY

Sharp Words Pass between Partisans in Both Houses. Two Big Measures now Completed.

Washington. Feb. 27—Although marked progress in disposing of legislation was made yesterday by Congress after announcement that President Wilson would not call an extra session until after his return from Europe, Administration leaders still were extremely doubtful that all the necessary appropriation bills could be enacted before adjournment next Tuesday.

There was considerable tension over the legislative situation at the Capital after it became known that the President was insistent that all necessary legislation be disposed of at this session. On the Senate floor and in private conversations, Democrats and Republicans charged each other with responsibility for delay in action on important measures.

President Wilson had planned to go to the Capitol yesterday afternoon to confer with Democratic leaders in an effort to accelerate the work of Congress but a prolonged meeting of his "war cabinet" prevented. He probably will carry out this program to-day before marching at the head of the parade in honor of District of Columbia troops.

Democratic Leader Martin yesterday urged greater speed upon committee chairmen. He asked Democratic senators to defer prolonged speeches and requested Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, and Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, to abandon proposed speeches on the constitution of the League of Nations. Senator Owen spoke late in the day.

In the speeding up Wednesday the Senate Naval Committee reported out the $721,000,000 naval appropriation bill with its authorization for a new three-year building program, but because of opposition to some features of the measure leaders doubt that it can be enacted at this session. They also doubt that the pending Army appropriation bill carrying $1,215,000,000 and the $850,000,000 sundry civil appropriation measure can be passed.

Measures finally completed Wednesday were the $8,000,000 legislative, executive and judicial bill and the $32,000,000 rivers and harbors bill.

REDUCE SENTENCES OF ALL PRISONERS

Military Men who Got Long Terms to Have Cases Reviewed.

Washington, Feb. 27—Major General Crowder, Judge Advocate General of the Army, appearing before the Senate Military Committee yesterday at a resumption of hearings on the court-martial situation, said that all imprisonment sentences imposed on men of the Army during the war and found upon review to be too severe would be mitigated through the President's power of remission.

General Crowder said that within 60 days the 5,000 sentences imposed since the beginning of hostilities would be reviewed by a special board, headed by Brigadier General Samuel T. Ansell, who was acting judge advocate general during the war and whose testimony as to severity of court-martial sentences led the committee to extend its investigation.

Steps toward mitigating the sentences were begun, General Crowder said, prior to the investigation by the Senate committee. Practically all of the men sentenced to dishonorable discharge and imprisonment, he said, already have had the dishonorable discharge provision revoked. He added that 1,200 men sentenced to long terms at Leavenworth, Kan., had been honorably restored to duty in the last year.

PRESIDENT MAKES LITTLE HEADWAY

In Securing Converts to his League of Nations Plans.

OPPOSITION IS UNCHANGED

Mr. Wilson Says if the League Fails Europe will be in a State of Turmoil.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Views of Republican members of the Congressional Foreign Relations Committees who oppose the proposed constitution of the League of Nations apparently were unchanged after a long dinner conference last night with President Wilson at the White House. This opinion was expressed by both Democratic and Republican senators.

President Wilson told members of the Congressional Foreign Relations Committees last night that unless the United States entered the League of Nations the league would fall and chaos and turmoil beyond description would result in Europe. Views of Republican members opposing the league constitution as reported to the Peace Conference apparently were not changed by the conference.

Discussion of the constitution as presented to the Peace Conference was said to have been quite general and the President was questioned closely, especially by Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut. Republican Leader Lodge and Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania former Secretary of State, took very little part

The President after making an opening explanatory statement, answered all questions freely and specifically emphasized that his guests were free to discuss the conference and all its information with newspaper men or others.

President Wilson denied that the league plan would interfere with the Monroe doctrine, declaring that the doctrine would be guaranteed by all the member powers in the world society.

One question on which much time was spent was whether a nation once in the league could withdraw, raised by Senator Brandegee. The President was said to have held that any country could withdraw, but Senator Brandegee contended this would be impossible under the Constitution as now drafted.

U. S. Sovereignty Goes

The President was said to have held that the mandatories in the constitution were not compulsory, but required the consent of the nations to which the mandatory was assigned. Senators said he expressed the opinion that the United States would desire to become a mandatory for Armenia.

On the question of American sovereignty, the President was said to have taken the position that recession of American sovereignty was not a new precedent, being an incident of every treaty.

Chairman Hitchcock, of the Senate Committee, said the President held that decisions of the League's executive council on disarmament would not be binding, until specifically approved by each signatory nation, and that consequently the American Congress would have the opportunity to pass on the apportionment of armament for every nation concerned. The President said this section had been misconstrued

Concerning the clause giving the right to the league to consider acts threatening world peace. President Wilson said that the clause was definite and would be made clear by writing in a safeguard which would require that every recommendation by the council should be unanimous

It was also said that the President informed the senators and representatives that the disarmament provision would not interfere with the military training of men, but that it was evident that a trained body of men would not be a danger to world peace if their armament supplies were kept in check.

SALARY INSTEAD OF FEES

County Treasurers will be Affected by Bill before House.

Providing a bill before the Pennsylvania Legislature is passed, treasurers in counties having less than 150,000 population are to be paid salaries ranging from $1,200 to $4,000 a year according to the county population These salaries will be paid in lieu of all commissions and fees from which county treasurers are now reimbursed.

The treasurer of Adams County receives between $3,000 and $4,000 yearly in fees and commissions. Under the proposed bill he would receive a salary according to the population of the county, which would be materially less than he is getting at the present time. The bill provides, however, that the county is to furnish stationery and supplies.

The measure was framed by Representative Helt, of Northumberland.

RUSSIAN PLOTTERS NEARING FINISH

Lenine and Trotsky Losing their Grip on the Starving People.

London, Feb. 27—Premier Lenine and War Minister Trotsky and their higher officials of the Soviet government "know that the game is up, but do not know how to get out of it or what to do," is the belief expressed by H. V. Keeling, an English trade unionist, in an interview in the Westminster Gazette. He recently arrived in England from Russia, where he spent five years in close contact with the Russian working classes.

Mr. Keeling, who frankly admits that he was at first attracted to Bolshevik ideas, says that Bolshivism in its present phase is nothing less than a "starvation conspiracy". He believes that when Lenine and Trotsky show the slightest signs of weakening they will be done for as a result, he said, they simply go ahead "working their machine round and round and grinding out anybody they think is dangerous."

"On one side," he continues, "are millions of people too absorbed with the thought of how to get food for themselves, their wives and children to think of anything beyond the moment and are too exhausted to resist, and on the other a favored few relatively well fed and prepared for any violence and cruelty to save themselves from losing their privileges and slipping into the vortex of famine.

FIGHT FOR MILLIONS

Pennsylvania Family in Contest over Large Estate.

Philadelphia, Feb. 27—A legal contest by two sisters, one a baroness, for the $3,000,000 estate of their father, Henry Welchmann Bartol, was begun in this city Wednesday, and after a brief hearing was continued until March 25.

The contestants are Mrs. James M Farr, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and the Baroness Katheren de Moncles. They are seeking to have the will and a codicil set aside on the ground that the father was "insanely prejudiced" against them, was subject to "delusions" about his wife and daughters and that when he made the will he was not a resident of the United States but of Nice, France.

Mr. Bartol died here last December. He made a fortune in sugar refining and railroad stocks. He lived in this city and in Nice.

The common green frog has been discovered to possess an insatiate greed for wasps. This extraordinary appetite does not seem to be in the least checked by an occasional sting. ROME GIVES U. S. FAMOUS PALACE

Bankers Purchase Historic Home to House All American Organizations.

TO PROMOTE CLOSE RELATIONS

Will Be Permanent Headquarters for Representatives Sent to Italy by American Business and Financial Institutions.

Rome.—Thanks to the generosity of Italian financial and commercial interests, the United States will have a house of its own in Rome.

The Palazza Salviati, one of the famous group of historic family palaces that line the Corso Umberto, formerly the Flaminian way, has just been purchased by the big banking interests of Italy, rechristened "La Casa dell'America" or "The American House," and placed at the disposal of all societies, organizations and movements that have for their object the furthering of commercial, financial, social and industrial relations between the United States and Italy.

Banks Provide Money.

The project was planned by Minister of Provisions Crespi, who through his contact with American Food Administrator Hoover, became convinced of the great mutual benefit to be derived by Italy and America through closer relations. The money for the purchase of the palace was put up by the leading banking institutions of Italy.

The Salviati palace, which is near the entrance of the Corso Umberto into Piazza Venezia, or where the Flaminian way formerly led up to the Capitoline hill, is surrounded by the other equally historic palaces of the Odescalchi and Dorvia families. Its interior furnishings and decorations will be kept intact as far as possible.

A Permanent Headquarters.

The first floor of the palace will be occupied by the central headquarters of the Italian-American league, of which Senator Ruffini is president and which has for its object promoting every possible relation between the American and Italian peoples.

The second floor will be given over to the offices of financial organizations that are especially interested in Italian and American stocks and bonds.

Still other portions of the palace will be given over to the societies and organizations promoting interests along special lines between the United States and Italy.

In the future American manufacturing, business and financial institutions sending representatives to Italy to establish relations will find permanent headquarters at the American house and every facility necessary to enable them to attain their ends.

SERVES 7 YEARS FOR $500

New York Youth, Nineteen Years of Age, Has Committed Twenty-Five Burglaries.

New York.—To get less than $500 in cash through law-breaking activities has cost Stephen Leyster, nineteen years old, seven years in protectories and reformatories, but he is not sure that he made a bad bargain.

Leyster admitted he had committed 25 burglaries and robberies.

"You seem to be proud," said Judge Humphrey, "of the fact that you have done something that the average person does not do. How long have you been in jail?"

"Counting the time that I was in the protectory and the reformatory, it is seven years," answered the boy.

"How much do you think your career in crime has netted you?"

"Well, between $400 and $500 in cash."

TOTS HURT BY "PRETTY TOYS"

Scores of Children in Serbia Maimed by Picking Up Austrian "Dud" Shells.

London.—The war is still taking its toll of children in Monastir. The Serbian hospital contains scores of little ones who have been maimed for life or severely injured by explosions of "pretty toys" they have picked up along the roadsides or in the yards of the homes they recently have reoccupied.

The toys are "dud" shells dropped into the city and its environs by Austrian and Bulgarian batteries. Every day children dig up these bright objects and explosions usually follow. Many boys and girls have been killed by these shells.

TEA GIVEN UP BY HARVARD

Professors and Their Wives This Year Have Omitted Old Custom at Cambridge.

Cambridge, Mass.—Harvard has given up tea for beer. Or even a bottle of ale will serve the purpose at Cambridge. Harvard professors and their wives have this year omitted the custom of holding afternoon teas for students, while it has been announced that candidates for the freshman and varsity crews will not be allowed to drink anything but a bottle of beer or perhaps ale for supper.

Veteran of Civil War Finally Gets Pension

Potsville, Pa.—Thomas J. Rose, a Civil war veteran, has finally been given a pension after a clerical error in Washington kept it from him for 50 years. The back pension will amount to several thousands of dollars. Seven congressmen tried to get Rose's record straightened out, but this was not accomplished until the present war led to the discovery of additional records.

DAILY HEALTH TALKS

What Is The Cause of Backache?

BY DOCTOR CORNELL

Backache is perhaps the most common ailment from which women suffer. Rarely do you find anybody free from it. Sometimes the cause is obscure, but Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., a high medical authority, says the cause is very often a form of catarrh that settles in the delicate membranes of the feminine organs. When these organs are inflamed, the first symptom is backache, accompanied by bearing-down sensations, weakness, unhealthy discharges, irregularity, painful periods, irritation, headache and a general run-down condition. Any woman in this condition is to be pitied, but pity does not cure. The trouble calls for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is a separate and distinct medicine for women. It is made of roots and herbs put up without alcohol or opiate of any kind, for Dr. Pierce uses nothing else in his prescription. Favorite Prescription is a natural remedy for women, for the vegetable growths of which it is made seem to have been intended by Nature for that very purpose. Thousands of girls and women, young and old, have taken it, and thousands have written grateful letters to Dr. Pierce saying it made them well. In taking Favorite Prescription, it is reassuring to know that it goes straight to the cause of the trouble. There is but one way to overcome sickness, and that is to overcome the cause. That is precisely what Favorite Prescription is intended to do.

Send 10c for trial pkg. of Tablets. Address Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Constipated women, as well as men, are advised by Dr. Pierce to take his Pleasant Pellets. They are just splendid for costiveness.

LAST DAYS OF KAISER AT SPA

Guard Tells of the Escape of German Ex-Ruler.

QUITS A TRAIN FOR BERLIN

It Stops in Open Country and the Amazed Body-Guard See War Lord Flee in Automobile—Erzberger and Scheidemann Treat William as a Grown-Up Child—Mad Scramble to Leave Spa When End Comes.

Some day the tragi-comedy of the ex-kaiser's flight will assuredly be known in all its details and will prove one of the most humanly interesting, if not one of the most edifying, episodes in history, writes Julian Grande in New York Times. In all probability, however, many of those who would find this narrative most absorbing will no longer be here to read it when it appears. Any eyewitness' account, therefore, of William's last hours as kaiser cannot but arouse attention, especially if it bear every mark of veracity.

This particular eyewitness was a German acting color sergeant, who, with his company, was on guard outside the Belgian castle at Spa where William Hohenzollern had his quarters when the ultimatum, concerning his abdication was delivered by Erzberger, Scheidemann, and the rest.

One day this eyewitness noticed the kaiser walking with some one else in the grounds of his residence, and overheard his majesty's companion saying to him:

"Seems 1848 all over again, just the same political conjuncture! But that's not saying it'll end so tragically."

To which the kaiser replied frequently, "Ja, ja."

This conversation took place on the morning after the famous six motor cars with Erzberger, Scheidemann and company had returned from the French front at 11 p. m., bearing the armistice conditions, which apparently were not taken so very tragically, for these genury were heard laughing and cracking jokes about them with the kaiser.

Treat Kaiser as Child.

The interview of the kaiser with Scheidemann, Erzberger and company will perhaps one day be made known, but one thing is certain. Even at that hour William Hohenzollern seemed to fail to realize the situation, and Erzberger and Scheidemann did not undeceive him. In other words, they treated him as a grown-up child.

On the day after the armistice terms were made known to the kaiser, a Thursday, the atmosphere in Spa must have been exceedingly electric, for our eyewitness tells us that his regiment was fully armed and always on picket duty, and that it was only because they were well provided with hand grenades that any sort of order was preserved.

Friday night was the last night that the kaiser slept, or rather spent, at the white castle or country house in which he had installed himself in Spa. In the town the excitement was at fever heat. The battalion to which our eyewitness belonged was parading the streets, fully armed, with fixed bayonets and hand grenade bags full.

The next morning, Saturday, his company was ordered to be at the railway station, where they were told that a train was ready to take them to Berlin. At the station they found that the ex-kaiser was already in one of the carriages, attended by a small suite. The train left as usual, but after two hours' run it suddenly stopped, right in the open country, and the ex-kaiser and his suite got out and entered some motorcars which were awaiting them. And away they went! To quote the color-sergeant's own words: "The troops accompanying him hung their amazed countenances out of the carriage windows, and spent the time on the return journey discussing what had happened.

Every Man for Himself.

They went back to Spa, and it was then a case of every man for himself, and the devil take the hindmost. Officers hastened to get hold of the first available motorcar and secure as much of the cars with anything on which they could lay hands. Whether it belonged to them or not was quite a secondary consideration. And then off they went, too. The grand general staff began packing up, and that very morning Hindenburg thought it prudent to issue an order to form soldiers' councils.

Apparently the company to which this eyewitness belonged must still have been considered the most faithful of all, for he himself left with the same train that had Hindenburg on board and what was left of the general staff. Hindenburg apparently kept his head, or rather tried to keep it, to the very end. If he had not issued orders for the formation of soldiers' councils, however, he would probably not have kept his head very long—in the literal sense of the phrase.

One thing is certain, judging from the statements of this eyewitness: It was Foch's, Haig's and Pershing's humanity and aversion to needless bloodshed which saved the whole German army from complete capitulation. If the allied generals had chosen to sacrifice another 40,000 or 50,000 British, French, American and Belgian lives, they would have made prisoners the entire German army and brought about a military catastrophe such as the world has never beheld.

MAKING NEW FACE

Hospital Surgeons Working Upon a Small Boy.

Winnipeg hospital physicians are making a new face for nine-year-old Edgar Forbes of Rathwell, Man. The boy's face was reduced to pulp when he was run over by a sleigh. Every bone was broken.

The experiment will be a success, according to the physicians. The bones were reset and will mold, they say.

Four dentists, after days of experimenting in the hospital laboratory, completed an artificial palate for his mouth.

When the boy was brought to the hospital his face was unrecognizable. Every bone was sunk in. Both eyes were sunken. The bridge bones of his nose were smashed in many pieces, and after an X-ray examination were found lodged in his throat.

The boy will be able to see again, although at present he is blind in one eye and scarcely able to distinguish objects with the other. The eyeballs were not injured.

CORN THROUGH ROOF

Grew Up From a Heap of Soot and Dirt in Garret.

For several weeks farmers observed a green substance on the roof of an abandoned house on the La Gale farm near Gaffney Falls, N. Y. They watched it grow until it attained a height of five feet.

Jabez Montow invited the village president, H. E. Shotts, and two others to accompany him to the house for an investigation. There they found two stalks of corn six feet in height, with two large and well-formed ears of corn in each stalk, protruding from the roof. The men entered the garret of the house and found the hill of corn in a mass of soot and dirt, an accumulation of years.

Found Wedding Ring.

Mrs. Edward M. Davis 29 years ago lost her wedding ring on a farm now occupied by Benjamin Krouse, near Seyfert, Pa. Recently, while Misses Laura Krouse and Esther Haltman were in the peach orchard on the farm they found the ring, still fairly well preserved. The ring was forwarded to the owner in Reading.

Commerce and Art United.

The period of Antwerp's great rise to commercial prosperity was also that of the city's chief artistic production. The names of Quentin Matsys and of Rubens are specially connected with the city, for Rubens was essentially an Antwerp man, although he was not. Like Teniers and older, and Van Dyke, a native of the place.

Playing Safe.

Billy wrote a letter to Santa Claus and when he finished he asked his father for a check. "Cause," said the little fellow in way of explanation, "of course Santa Claus has to pay his helpers or maybe they'd go off and strike on Christmas eve."

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filterers of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammation and destroys the germs which have caused it. Go to your druggist today and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning.

After you feel somewhat improved continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep the first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.

INFLUENZA!

People Strongly Urged to Continue Precautions as Isolated Outbreaks are Expected Throughout Winter.

Infection Proved Only Possible by Entrance Through Nose and Mouth of Vicious Influenza Germs.

It has been clearly established that the living virulent influenza germs are readily conveyed from one person to another.

These germs are present in the excretions of nose, mouth and throat or other air passage and as these mucous excretions are discharged the living germs go with them.

LIVING GERMS AFLOAT

These germs are so exceedingly small that the minutest even invisible particles of this discharge may contain these in great numbers. These discharges are most frequently and widely scattered in the air as an almost invisible spray of coughing and sneezing unless the nose and mouth are covered by a handkerchief or other efficient substitute. By this simple precaution all these dangerous germs may be kept out of the air and the largest risk of the conveyance to others of this disease is avoided.

WARNINGS

Don't become alarmed. Keep your balance watch and give every attention to your nose and throat. Keep your mouth shut and breathe through your nose previously applying a little Forkola to the inside of the nostrils. This serves to collect and destroy the germs at the entrance to your system and before they can do any damage. Keep warmly clad and wear heavy soled shoes. Sleep with the windows open but be careful to have ample bed-clothes.

SYMPTOMS

The first symptoms are chills, a headache and depression and in the great majority of cases a feeling of catching cold and fever. When these symptoms appear, hurry home obtaining from your druggist a small quantity of Forkola. Take a hot bath, as hot as you can stand it, a hot drink, preferably hot lemonade and a good laxative and go to bed. AND NOW COMES THE IMPORTANT ADVICE. These symptoms show that the germ has a foothold. Make up your mind you'll soon be well. Keep your bedroom window open but have heat in the room. Exercise the same care as in measles, diphtheria or smallpox. Don't allow a careless physician to minimize the importance of your case but be most careful to expectorate in gauze or in rags that must be burned and not washed.

But above all do not forget to apply Forkola liberally in the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. This is just as important as the hot bath and hot drinks.

THE PNEUMONIA OF INFLUENZA

Which is a frequent complication, while apparently very severe may disappear in a night under the proper treatment and the best way for a person afflicted with influenza to avoid pneumonia is to go to bed at once and stay there until the physician permits you to get up. While in bed the back throat and chest should be liberally covered with Forkola and flannel applied to ensure the necessary heat for its absorption. Allow a little to melt in your mouth three or four times daily. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and permits the easy expulsion of phlegm.

IMPORTANT—In some districts the demand for Forkola has been so heavy that there was a temporary shortage. The public are warned against accepting substitutes and to insist on Forkola as all wholesalers are supplied and your druggist, if he is sold out, can get it on short notice.

DICK'S RETURN

By MARY C. BRIGGS.

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"There, the last lesson is over, but I just know I'll never dare parlez-vous a single word when there's anyone around," sighed pretty Constance, flushed and bright-eyed from her brisk walk home from the French class.

As Constance sat before the fire her thoughts flew forward to the coming dance to be given in honor of Dick G——, who had just returned from "over there," and then backward to her last meeting with Dick.

It was the night before he had left for camp and her mother was giving a party in honor of Constance's eighteenth birthday. Early in the evening Dick had drawn her aside and told her that he wished to leave the party early in order to spend as much time as possible with his mother, but asked her permission to come again before he left. There was a certain closeness to his hand-clasp, and in his eyes, as he gazed into hers, there was a peculiar intensity that left her startled and tingling to her finger tips, happy but too breathless to speak.

And then, in the midst of this paradise, Jack H—— came to claim her for the next dance. Relieved at any excuse to get away and stop the flood of color rising to her face, she quickly swung into the fox trot with Jack, but not before she saw the look of hurt disappointment in Dick's eyes. This was the look that had haunted Constance for over a year now, for Dick did not come back after the party nor had she ever seen or heard from him since. Why had he not written? Surely he must have seen that she had left him for the dance with Jack only to cover her confusion. But the fact remained—he had not cared enough for her to even write. And Constance wiped a tear of despair from her eyes.

Then she recalled how a certain picture of herself had disappeared from the library table that night, and how they never had been able to find it afterward. At first she had almost dared to hope that Dick had taken it, but common sense told her that a man who went soldiering could not carry a 16 inch full-length portrait concealed about his person, no matter how much he loved the girl; and besides, Dick apparently did not care and had forgotten her.

The night of the dance came and Constance had never been more dazzling and brilliant. She had determined to be the perfect butterfly if only to show Dick G—— how indifferent she was to his lack of attention that year of absence, and her merry laughter and gay French repartee wonderful recommendations for the little French professor, made her the belle of the ball.

It was not until late in the evening that Dick was able to secure a dance with her, and then, when the dance was half over, utterly oblivious of her graciousness in allowing him a whole dance, he led her from the ballroom out to the cool veranda.

"Do you know why I asked you to come out here where we can talk?" he whispered as soon as they were alone.

Once more Constance felt the same emptiness in the region where her lungs ought to be, although she could hear herself fairly wheezing. Once more she was struck dumb, though all sorts of bright French retorts chased through her mind, but refused to cross her lips. She gave one big stifled gasp, however, as Dick continued:

"It's because you're the only girl I've met this evening who hasn't made me want to duck for my little French dictionary. When a chap's been hearing and only half understanding a foreign language for over a year, you've no idea how good it seems to hear his mother tongue spoken by a familiar voice.

"Besides," he continued, "I want to return this to its proper owner, although I must apologize for its condition," and he drew from his pocket a small, beautifully chased gold frame, containing a small picture of herself cut from the one long missing from her library table. Pointing to an ugly bullet scar on the frame, he continued hurriedly:

"Once this little frame saved my life," and he showed her where the bullet still lodged. "And many other times this sweet face and the thought of her at home saved me from much worse. Constance, I had intended to ask for the subject of this little picture before I went away, but my foolish jealousy sealed my lips. Now I'm returning the picture, may I not claim the original?"

At last Constance found her voice, and the words that she spoke were French, not the brilliant repartee she had practiced, but a little three-word sentence she learned in her first lesson. This time Dick felt no inclination to duck for his dictionary; he reached for her hands instead, and as he drew her close the smile that he gave her—well, that is the same in all languages.

Power of Sympathy.

There is a wonderful power in sympathy to open and display the hidden richness of a man's own seemingly narrow life.—Phillips Brooks.

Vice of the Virtuous.

The peculiarity of ill-temper is that it is the vice of the virtuous. It is often the one blot on an otherwise noble character.
